

JUNIOR YOUTH CLUB FORCED TO SPLIT

ROSE Hill Junior Youth Club (RJYC) has been forced to split its sessions into two because of demand. Numbers of children attending the club reached a peak in July of over 40 coming into each session. The popularity of the club has rocketed in the last 12 months due to the range of activities on offer and the introduction of a superb healthy tea for children which is also available to parents, carers and siblings.

Membership has increased threefold from September 2012. This has been due to a complete re-structure of the types of play on offer giving children a fantastic range of creative, sporty and challenging activities such as printmaking, multi sports sessions, weekly cooking sessions, taking part in an Oxford Playhouse Theatre project, trips to adventure playgrounds and Partyman World of Play.

From 18th September children aged 6, 7 and 8 are welcomed at the Wednesday session from 3:30pm and the traditional Thursday session is open to children aged 9, 10 and 11 from 3:30pm.

Every session starts with ground rules and consequences to ensure children feel safe and aware in their play environment. The staff are positive about risk, allowing children to challenge themselves and experiment whilst giving guidance and boundaries when necessary.

Ali Hall, lead worker for the last year said: "The RHJYC has adapted dramatically and continues to evolve to ensure that it is accessible and available to all. Our wonderful play workers are from different backgrounds and have a varied skills-set which gives the children further variety in the style of play offered. We all have such fun at the sessions and it is wonderful to see how children embrace all the different types of play on offer. And the food is great!!"

Splitting the sessions presents community worker Fran Gardner with a financial headache as she is tasked to raise a further £35,000 to support the club sessions over the next three

Fran said: "Despite the Lottery funding of £10,000 per year for the club I need to raise at least another £35,000 to support the extra staffing and so that we can continue to give Rose Hill's children the best play opportunities possible – they deserve it!"

However comments from parents prove that all the hard work by staff is worthwhile:

'Friendly and fun atmosphere, plenty of well planned activities. Good variety of food and drinks.' (Parent SL)

'This place is fantastic for children and parents. They can learn, have fun and make friends in the safe environment with healthy food. My children are truly different people since they attended this lovely club. I made some friends among the staff and parents too. So benefits of the youth club are endless.' (Parent AW)

Rose Hill Junior Youth Club is held in the Norman Brown Hall, Rose Hill Community Centre every Wednesday and Thursday. Entry 50p per child.

ANY OLD IRONS?

OLD electrical items will be given a new lease of life thanks to a collection set up by recently-formed Rose Hill & Iffley Low Carbon.

A range of TVs, microwaves, vacuum cleaners, lamps and even electric typewriters can be dropped off at Church House in The Oval. Eleanor Watts, chairwoman of the Low Carbon group, said: "We have done this as a service to prevent dumping. What we are planning to do is take them on to Bicester Green Sustainability Centre. They recondition the items and then sell them in charity shops. Those we cannot recondition will be taken to Redbridge."

Sarah Northall, curate at St Mary's Iffley explains, "It all started when I was visiting with someone on the estate who doesn't have a car and was telling me a story about how they had a vacuum cleaner which had given up. He contacted the council to come and collect it and they said take it to Redbridge. He said he didn't have a car. He actually carried his vacuum cleaner down to Redbridge. When he got there he wasn't allowed to take it on site because he was on foot. He had to take it back again. It is a practical solution to a real need."

The first collection took place on Saturday, August 3, and will happen regularly, on the first Saturday morning of the month. If you can carry it (so no fridges then please), then we'll take care of it for you.

Next month's collection is on Saturday, September 7, at Church House in The Oval between 9am and noon.

Star Volunteer–Steph Ballard

STEPH has been volunteering for a whole year with the Rose Hill Lottery Project. Steph contacted the Rose Hill Lottery Project last year when she heard about the new 55+ Lunch Club at Alice and Margaret House. Since October 2012, Steph has managed the club, organising the serving of the lunch which enables a weekly get together for up to 20 older members the community.

Resident of Alice and Margaret House, Val Wood, who attends the club, said "The club provides us with an opportunity to get together with friends and enjoy a really good meal. We catch up and have fun. Having Steph's assistance means we can enjoy ourselves and don't have to do all the work!"

Volunteer Coordinator Ali Hall said: "Steph has been really generous with her time. If we had a paid member of staff running the club it would increase the cost for everyone so in doing this Steph is actually making it more accessible to people financially".

Since her time as a volunteer Steph has set up her own cake business 'Steph's Cakes' and is now running weekly tap dance lessons 'Lil Tapz' for children at the Rose Hill Community Centre on Saturday mornings.

The Alice and Margaret lunch club is open to anyone over 55 and takes place every Thursday from 12-1pm, each meal costs £3 and includes a main meal and desert. For more information on the lunch club or if you would like to attend please contact Fran Gardner on : 07770 324277

If you would like information about Steph's Cake or Lil Tapz please contact Steph on 07849 108325

Stay in step with tap!

A NEW tap-dancing school has opened its doors to Rose Hill youngsters, every Saturday at the Rose Hill Community Centre.

Lil Tapz is the brainchild of 26-year-old Steph Ballard, a qualified tap-dancing enthusiast, who set-up the club with the help of friends Lucy and Stacey Gregory.

Steph said: "When I was younger I used to go all the time to Jackie Bebbington's tap dancing school and I loved it. I felt as if it kept me disciplined and gave me a lot of self confidence."

Steph believes the school will have a positive impact on the estate and help residents 'stay in step! She said: "There are no clubs around that take three-year-olds or that are aimed primarily at girls so this will give them something to focus on with real achievements and qualifications to be gained. The open day was very successful and we had lots of children come and all of them signed up.

"I think that parents think tap dancing is a bit old fashioned so my first project is to do a small performance to show people how I have brought it into the 21st century! I am extremely confident that Lil Tapz will go from strength to strength."

Steph will not make any money from the school and hopes to raise money for charity through events and shows.

The school will run on Saturdays in the Norman Brown Hall at the Rose Hill Community Centre.

Each session costs £2 and session details are as follows:

- Ages: 3 – 5 | 10am – 10.30am
- Ages: 5 – 7 | 10.30am – 11.15am
- Ages: 7 – 10 | 11.15am – noon

Academy works in partnership to deliver second successful Summer School

AROUND the World in 10 days was the theme of this year's free two-week programme, which was designed to raise the aspirations of new starters to the Academy and ease transition to secondary education.

Students from seven primaries took part in a range of exciting activities from African music making at Oxford's Pitt Rivers Museum to continental cookery sessions with the Dragon School. The group also took part in a junior style Apprentice with global IT Company, Planet IT. Oxford Brookes delivered a fun and active 'Your Future' workshop and The Early Intervention Hub joined us to run three insightful wellbeing sessions.

The programme also focused on raising attainment in English, Maths and Science and maximising student engagement through enrichment, sporting and cultural activities. Students enjoyed planning around the world journeys using literacy and numeracy and getting involved in sports such as trampolining and street dance.

Oxford Academy is the most improved school in Oxford after GCSE results soar CELEBRATIONS are taking place at The Oxford Academy after a huge increase in the number of students achieving the Government's floor target in their GCSEs. The Academy saw the percentage of students achieving five A* to C grades including English and Maths rise from 26 per cent in 2012 to 42 per cent in the 2013 results. This represents an improvement of 62 per cent from last year and along with 83 per cent of students achieving 5 or more A*-C grades, The Oxford Academy is the most improved school in Oxford with an added value of 1005, up from 976 in 2012.

David Brown, Executive Headteacher, said: "I congratulate students on their achievements and want to praise staff for the inordinate amount of hard work they have put into supporting students as they prepared for these exams. I was confident we could raise standards and I am over the moon with these results. We now have practical measures in place across the Academy to ensure that standards rise even more and this is also reflected in our Year 10 results. I would also like to thank parents and carers for their continued support of The Oxford Academy. It is in unison with students, parents, staff and our local community that we will continue to make such progress."

83% of students achieved 5 or more A*-C grades, which is a 34% increase on last year. 5 A*- C passes including English and Maths increased by an exceptional 62% to 42% and students have achieved a 100% pass rate of 1 A*-G. Compared to national predictions for these students put forward by the Fischer Family Trust, The Oxford Academy has improved its predicted rate by 77%, demonstrating that it is making a significant difference to students' learning across the ability range.

Alfie Rushen Four students have exceeded all expectations gaining 5 A* - A with a total of 35 students gaining at least one A* or A. Alfie Rushen, 15, (pictured left) was one of these students gaining two A*, one A, three Bs and four Cs. Alfie commented; "This is my proudest achievement to date. I'm coming back to the Sixth Form in September because I'd never get the support I have had anywhere else. I'll be studying Maths, Art, IT and Performing Arts. I then hope to pursue a career in Graphics or IT."

Volunteering with the Lottery Project

By Lloyd Barrett

Hi, MY name is Lloyd Barrett I have been volunteering for the Lottery Project since the project began. I volunteer at the Rose Hill Junior Youth Club on a Thursday and it has given me more confidence to go out and changed me for the better, along with giving me valuable work experience.

We have such lovely kids in our club and we cook for parents, friends and family at the end of the session. I love working with the children and I try to help out as much as I possibly can.

I would definitely recommend volunteering to anyone who has a spare hour here and there. It's made me feel better about myself and given me the opportunity to experience things I wouldn't have had the chance to.

Fundraising for Headway

THIS past year Sainsbury's Heyford Hill has been fundraising for our local charity partner, HEADWAY OXFORDSHIRE. A Kennington based charity that helps people with brain trauma and injury We have now presented them with our total for last year, a massive £7,300.

This is one of the highest amounts we have raised so it is wonderful. Headway are planning to refurbish their premises in Kennington and we have raised this to help with the kitchen area. This will enable their service users to regain the skills that they may have lost due to accident/stroke/illness. In the photo we have Charlotte Carlisle from Headway, Kevin Morton our Store Manager, me Sharon Hulbert, Val Fisher and our HR Manager Helen Thomas along with some Headway service users. Our colleagues and customers have been very supportive and generous and we would love you to say how grateful we are.

Oxford Food Bank is pleased to announce that the Heyford Hill branch of Sainsbury's has joined the ranks of our food suppliers alongside other branches at Kidlington and Oxford Westgate.

The first batch of food was picked up on May 13th and since then there has been a steady flow of bakery products, fruit and vegetables thanks to their extremely supportive staff including Zena Coleman, Gary Peck and Sharon Hulbert who are all shown in the photograph above displaying part of their initial donation. Sainsbury's have been an important part of the supply chain to the Oxford Food Bank from the beginning and it is encouraging when new branches such as Heyford Hill come on line.

We certainly appreciate their support and look forward to many years of working together in the future to provide food for the needy in Oxford.

FASHION: looking great...for less!

By Rosie Parry

EVERYONE loves to look good but fashion comes at a price. Because of this, there's an ever growing scene of second hand stores where people can shop without splashing out. Nowadays there's more to second hand clothing than dusty jackets and unwanted wedding dresses, and if it's something you're interested in Oxford is the place to be.

As well as boasting some of the best charity shops in the country there's an impressive selection of places to buy vintage. People can get too edgy about second hand clothes being dirty, but in reality most pieces donated are checked and cleaned before being displayed.

Still, I thought I'd put my money where my mouth is and check out what's on offer.

There are several great quality Oxfam shops about (the charity was founded here in 1942) but if you want upmarket pieces at low cost the Summertown branch is excellent.

It might be a bus journey away from Rose Hill but I picked up a Reiss jacket for a tenner, marked down from over fifty pounds. Summertown also has a fantastic Blue Cross shop which stocks a selection of games and toys for children.

A little closer to home and Uncle Sam's Vintage on Little Clarendon Street sells American inspired vintage at good prices and comes with an cool as ice reputation. Denim jackets are going to be a big look this Autumn and Sam's sells the best by far, I didn't get one but there's a fifties inspired tea dress I've got my eye on!

I've saved the best until last though. Unicorn on Ship Street is an amazing little shop, literally filled to the ceiling with treasure. It's tiny, with only space for several customers at a time but the clothes span decades of incredible quality and the owner keeps pricing reasonable. Shopping there is an experience in itself.

I had a lovely day browsing though what Oxford had to offer, and I'm hoping to see some of you around soon!

OPA Playday

ON SATURDAY 13 July the Oxfordshire Play Association Play Day came to Rose Hill. Sports tasters, go-karts, face painting and arts and crafts were just a few of the things on offer, along with food from all corners of the globe.

Hundreds of people from all over Oxford spent a wonderful sunny day at the Rose Hill Recreational Ground and here are just a few of our favourite photos from Oxford's day of play. All photos by Kasia Bus.

Rose Hill News Interviews...

IN this new feature of Rose Hill News we get to meet a member of the Rose Hill community to find out a little bit more about them.

To start us off, we talked to Rose Hill shopkeeper Ranjit Singh.

RHN: Hi Ranjit. For those readers who don't know, can you tell us who you are and what you do?

Ranjit: My name is Ranjit Singh and I moved to Rose Hill six years ago. I am a shop manager at the Premier Shop next to The Oval, and I am originally from Punjab in India. I like to watch and play cricket and football.

RHN: What changes have you seen since you moved to Rose Hill?

Ranjit: I have seen a lot of changes thanks to the Lottery Project and new homes that have been built since I moved to the area. At first I didn't know anybody but now I know lots of people from all types of backgrounds and different ages. I have seen lots of people grow up and have got to know the community. The people of Rose Hill are good people.

RHN: Are you religious?

Ranjit: I am a Sikh which means that I wake early, fast, prayer and then go to work and the same in the evening. There are only a few families in Oxford that are Sikh, around 20 but there is a temple on London Road that we can go to.

RHN: How have you found the different cultures in Rose Hill?

Ranjit: If you are good to people they will be good back. Because there are lots of different cultures we ask people what they would like to see in our store. We have recently added some Nepali food to the shop such as Kurkure Crisps and Wai Wai noodles and it is our way of helping each other.

RHN: Do you read Rose Hill News?

Ranjit: Yes, we put it in our shop. It's good at keeping the community informed and it's free which is very good.

RHN: What are your plans for the future?

Ranjit: I want a simple and happy life and hope to meet many new people. I am also looking forward to seeing the new community centre when it opens.

WHEN YOU FIRST SUSPECT YOUR CHILD HAS "SPECIAL NEEDS"

A local resident shares with readers a three part serialisation of his experiences of dealing with a son who has a form of Autism.

AROUND the time of controversy over an alleged link between autism and the MMR vaccine was when my son showed marked sudden changes. When he was about nine or ten months old he had begun to talk and rise up to walk around the furniture and all was looking good for him with his development.

By the time he had his first MMR vaccination he was "cruising" well, holding on to the furniture and beginning to "totter" the odd step. He was beyond just saying "door" or "mum" and "dad", but also "See Pretty Flowers" in the mornings when he wanted to look out or go into the garden.

This particular morning when he was held up to look out or the window we noticed the irises in his eyes had clouded over. This was after all the MMR vaccines had been given and the fever and febrile convulsions that went with it.

He had stopped trying to "totter" and he would just sit and scream rather than the usual crying and now we knew there was something wrong with his sight.

So off to the GP we went and that led on to a rush of appointments with various specialists and to several operations to fit bi-lateral lens implants so both his eyes had suddenly developed cataracts to such a degree he needed surgery to be able to see clearly again.

We were told "the genetic fault" came through his mother. It was not the best way the doctor could have put it! Our heads were scrambled and at first made to feel we were paranoid parents.

Over the next two issues

I will tell you how we got on and give you a little more insight into bringing up a child with Autism.

If you suspect your child has Autism then contact: The National Autistic Society or do a web search for support groups in your area.

DANCING STARS ON ROSE HILL!

TWO young Rose Hill residents have found their calling in the world of free style dancing.

Ellise, ten, and six year-old Lily Lovatt both attend the Flair School of Dance and have been making a name for themselves.

Ellise has been dancing for just over a year is already impressing the judges! Recently she danced in Blackpool and despite being up against 80 other dancers from around the world, she managed to pull off an amazing sixth place in the under 12's competition.

Lily on the other hand has just moved up a group to the under 8s and finished a brilliant fourth in a pairs dance, in a separate competition.

Both girls attend SS Mary and John school and have high hopes for future dancing competitions. Well done!

ART FOR ALL

By Danny Breach

EARLIER this year I organised a few art sessions at Alice Margaret House.

Rose Hill residents came along and they were a great bunch of people to work with. In the sessions I aimed to help them explore their enjoyment of art and to develop their artistic abilities. When asked about the experience Alice and Margaret resident Val Wood said: "I had always avoided art ever since school because I thought I was useless at art but these lessons helped me to release talents in me I never knew I had."

After hearing what Val had to say, I felt as if I'd done my job and succeeded in what I set out to do. Irene Fowler, who also took part in the sessions said: "They were very enjoyable and I realised I could do a lot more with art than I thought I was capable of. I am so happy with what I achieved."

I think all who attended were brave to give it a try and to let readers see some of their artworks.

So far it is undecided if the project will return, but there may be other opportunities for local residents to explore art or other activities.

Please feel welcome to come up with any suggestions or activities that you would like to see in Rose Hill. Email rosehillnews@gmail.com or message us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/rosehillrp

Film review

Smurfs 2

Review by Lauren Valsler and Allysha Dillon

WE weren't sure what to go and watch at the cinema. Summer holiday films can be a bit hit and miss but based on the success of the first film we decided to try our luck on the sequel Smurfs 2 and were very glad that we did!

Smurfs 2 is a good versus evil tale set between Paris and Smurf Village. It tells the story of our favourite character Smurfette who is kidnapped by the evil wizard Gargamel in his quest to capture the Smurf's essence and become all powerful.

Backed with a brilliant soundtrack, Smurfs 2 gets you involved in the plot all the way through, ending in Right Said Fred's "I'm too Smurfy".

The film is full of laugh out loud moments; mad chaos in a sweetshop, a mission to save ducks from being dinner and many more. Our favourite moment was towards the end when Papa Smurf, Clumsy, Grouchy, and Vanity turn up and attempt to rescue Smurfette. It's pretty tense and if you want to find out more you had better watch and find out!

We think it's a really good film, even better than the first one. Would recommend it for children aged 5 and over all the way up to adults of any age. Overall we rate Smurfs 2 a whopping 10/10!

Book review

The Girl in Berlin By Elizabeth Wilson

Review by E.Mason

ELIZABETH Wilson's novel is a tightly plotted and constantly intriguing book that manages to be true to her carefully researched 1951 Berlin and London, while having relevance to the world today.

The dialogue is truly evocative and the description of '50s fashions and the world in general is excellent. The main character who pursues criminals and Communist spies across two countries is Jack McGovern.

The novel directs a nod to the surveillance and corruption of today, with the development of several East German characters. Characters constantly have to lie and "act" their part with the reality of the different sides of the Cold War powers and the resultant paranoia. Reading the book is a loss of innocence for the reader and the character alike.

Also, a discussion of the Allies and Red Army forces and the part they played in the "de-Nazification" process after the war in Germany is central to the book and extremely emotive, but well dealt with by Wilson. The novel constantly weaves webs of trust and betrayal, in matters of love and war. For Wilson's heroes the Cold war and the post war years are "another little irritation in the vast and interminable locust plague of life's little irritations."

I would definitely recommend more novels by this author.

Zizzi's George St, Oxford

Review by Allysha Dillon and Lauren Valsler from The Oxford Academy.

WHEN we first looked at the menu outside Zizzi we weren't sure what to think, we could see a Pizza Hut down the Road and part of us was eager to stick to what we knew but ready for something new, we headed in.

Our first impression was that it was quite posh, nicely laid out over split level and some really nice detail with multi-coloured plates on the wall and a light feature.

We ordered from the set menu; to kick off we both opted for garlic bread which was nice but could have done with a bit more garlic!

For mains we had chicken pasta, which I found filling. Especially tasty with the parmesan cheese, plenty of sauce and full of flavour. Another favourite was the spicy pizza which was lovely and tomatoey but extra cheese would have been good.

For dessert we couldn't resist the goey, rich chocolate fondant which was lush and really well presented. The ice cream on the side had some crunchy bits in which was a good surprise!

Our Rating

Starter 5/10
Main 6/10
Pudding 10/10
Service 8/10
Atmosphere 10/10

Verdict: Nice food, lovely restaurant. Would definitely come back.

A TASTE OF ASIA

By Jamie Clark

IF YOU ARE looking for good and affordable food in Rose Hill and something tantalise your taste buds, then look no further than the Asian Women's Lunch every Thursday at the Rose Hill Children's Centre.

The lunch attracts a multicultural mix of people and has been running for seven years, during which time it has built up quite a fan base...me included!

Cooks Parveen Akhtar, Shazia Rashid, Khamim Hussain and Sajida Sultana serve up traditional recipes along with a delicious curry every week for only £2.50. An absolute bargain.

Upwards of 40 people eat there each week and the ladies have supplied food for many community events within Rose Hill. They have even started up a takeaway service!

Parveen said: "We all love to cook and this gives us the chance to really showcase our recipes – plus we enjoy being together each week. It's a very social occasion for everyone."

So why not come along? It's on every Thursday from midday at the Rose Hill Children's

Nepalese Community Oxfordshire (NCO)

IN July members of the Nepalese Community Oxfordshire group took part in the Cowley Road carnival procession. Nearly two dozen members actively participated in the procession performing a traditional limbu dance playing Chyabrung and waving their national flags. The local Buddhist guru Lama hailed the attendees at finishing area by presenting khada, and photographs were taken with the Sheriff of Oxford Councillor Mohammed Abbassi in August for the Nepalese senior citizens. About 40 people attended the lunch, which was hosted by the founder chairman of the NCO and now adviser, Mr Chitra Thapa. Present NCO president, Mr Lochan Limbu, Mr Tulasi Paudel, Mr Tika Paudel, Mr Santosh Rai, Mr Ash kumar Limbu, Mr Nar Narayan Limbu, Mr Amar Thapa, Mr Tej Limbu, Mrs Geeta Rai and many others sponsored the program.

The group organised a curry lunch

The function was held at the Lenthall Allotment and everyone enjoyed the lunch. NCO has decided to organise different events every year for the senior citizens. NCO organised Teej Night on 7 September at the Rose Hill community centre. Teej commemorates the reunion of Lord Shiva and Goddess Parvati. Women celebrate the festival of Teej with immense enthusiasm. Married ladies come back to their parent's home to celebrate the festival. The fasting day proceeds with evening prayers and traditional dancing and singing this is a three day festival, celebrated by women also in honor of Goddess Parvati.

A cleaner, greener Rose Hill!

AS part of Oxford City Council's on going Cleaner Greener Campaign, the autumn focus is going to be on Rose Hill.

The Cleaner Greener Campaign is an initiative aimed at improving the environment, economy and quality of life for residents within the city making it a safer and cleaner environment for everyone.

The council's objectives are to help with educating residents around waste management, to target areas for specific action and if necessary to enforce against environmental offences.

The Rose Hill operation will be run by the Community Response Team which deals with environmental crime and anti-social behaviour. The team will be also working closely with other City Council departments. After consulting with local community groups areas have been identified in Rose Hill that can be improved.

It is hoped that the community will take an active part in the campaign to improve the area for all residents. There are plans to hold a community litter picking day when any resident or community group can get involved in tidying up areas around Rose Hill. More details will be circulated nearer the time.

For any further information or to report environmental crime please contact the Community Response Team on 01865249811 or saferoxford@oxford.gov.uk

Rose Hill Junior Youth Club

Summer fun for Junior Youth Club

WE had a fantastic time during the summer with the Rose Hill Junior Youth Club summer trips.

We went to indoor play centre "Partyman: World of Play" and Florence Park, and everyone had a great time!

At Partyman, we all (play workers included!) enjoyed climbing and sliding through the soft play maze, playing football and chasing each other in a mammoth game of tag!

Harvey Clark and Callum Francis really loved the go-karting and said that it was the most fun they'd had for a while.

Jake Francis, nine, said: "I loved being able to run around and loved it when I was trying to hide from the person who was it. There's so much here I wish we could stay forever!"

At Florence Park we played in each of the playgrounds, swung on the swings and zipped across the zip-line! Joshua Harris, seven, was surprised at fast the zip line could go!

After playing we all settled down and enjoyed an ice cream in the warm and friendly atmosphere. When asked to review the trip eight year-old Mason Elderkin said: "I loved going to Florence Park and give it 1000 out of 10!"

Our thanks go to everyone who came along. We hope to do more trips in the near future.

CHURCH NEWS

SEPTEMBER marks a new beginning for many families whether it's settling a child into a new class at school or helping a young person to adjust to college or work. September feels like a new beginning for the Churches too as the usual meetings and groups held on Church premises resume after the Summer and we look for new opportunities to work together in the Rose Hill community.

New beginnings can bring anxiety, excitement or fear. Sometimes it feels so much easier to follow familiar routines. It seems less threatening to carry on doing the things we've always done than to start something new but then we are in danger of getting in a rut.

The Bible tells us that God's mercies are 'new every morning'. That means that each day is a new day, a gift from God who accompanies us in our discovery of new things and new relationships. That's a promise which can surely encourage each one of us whatever new circumstances come our way.

Wildlife in my garden

By Stuart Mabutt

General Wildlife Gardening Tips

HAD another lovely phone call from a reader this week, again requesting a specific subject to cover in these scrabbling'sof mine!

I was asked to give 10 of my top tips for wildlife gardening - as always, I'm happy to oblige.

Build a pond, have flowers/shrubs/trees with different coloured, shaped and smelling flowers at differing times of year, loads of dead wood, and grasses of differing length.

Grow climbing plants against walls and fences and up the middle of shrubs and trees.

Leave cracks in paving for hibernating and hunting beasties.

Grow some native plants that support a much greater range of native wildlife, but variety is often just as effective in a garden so let's not get bogged down in native and non-native.

Don't use chemicals, the natural balance will develop so that predators increase. Lots of parallels between organic and wildlife gardening here.

Provide pollen rich flowers and nectar throughout the year. Leave water sources for the birds. Next boxes for birds and boxes for bats can also be good.

Leave pruning's and leaves under your shrubs and hedges so hedgehogs have somewhere to sleep, breed and hibernate.

Leave grass to grow long under some shrubs, these damp areas can be great for amphibians.

There you go, 10 top tips. I could think of so many more that are just as valid as these. Get thinking and come up with your own micro habitats out there, in your own gardens!

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF AN OXFORD UNITED FAN BY ORLITER

IT'S THE middle of September already. Flowers and trees look as though they will be in full bloom and leaf until Christmas. And what a fantastic summer we have had, with very little rain, hardly a summer storm of note.

Temperatures in the glorious twenties and thirties. Or if you prefer old money, seventies and eighties. You know it's a good summer when the lawn is brown and does not need mowing. And on that note, what a brilliant summer and early autumn for our famous Yellows football team.

Oxford United revered throughout the football world – except of course just down the A420 in Wiltshire – are currently sitting at number two in the league having spent August at the very top. To date, the team have carved out four wins three draws and no losses scoring an impressive sixteen goals and conceding eight. Three out of four wins on the road is championship form and is justifying the managers decision to completely rebuild the side after last seasons disappointing results.

Money in new players are showing dividends and the fantastic fan base are never slow to appreciate the players commitment to the yellow shirt. Briggsy my faithful friend however refuses to wear a shirt telling me the colour clashes with the fawn and white markings on his back.

He just will not be persuaded and promptly dashes away across the field and runs off with a teams football. I think it's a game between Ashhurst Way Wanderers and Desborough Crescent Demons who have been deprived of the ball so yet another fifty pounds out of my bank account. Bad boy!

Next up for Oxford United are the team currently borrowing the number one spot Chesterfield the result of which may well be the indication all Yellow Army fans want and that is to confirm we really are the worlds greatest football team. Come on you Yellows.

MOTOCROSS MAKES FOR THRILLING WEEKEND!

Gavin and Dane Lovatt sponsored by GB Gas

WHILE most of us try to relax over the weekend, it's not the case for these two Rose Hillers.

Father and son Gavin and Dane Lovatt travel around the depths of Oxfordshire in their bid for glory in the physical, demanding and thrilling world of Motocross.

From March into late October and in all weather conditions, racing takes place within a 20 minute timescale, were you have to complete as many laps around the course as possible. For the younger riders, it's 12 minutes.

Gavin, 34, and 11 year-old Dane both risk everything for the love of the sport. Gavin is currently 4th in the championship and Dane has just finished 5th in a Bank Holiday Series.

Dane said: "I've only recently got back on the bike after breaking my elbow in three places so I'm very pleased to have got 5th. I'm hoping to push on after my injury and break into a top three finish come the end of the season."

For both father and son, it takes a lot of time, effort and money to do what they do but dad Gavin says it's worth it: "Motocross is a family sport and we've both made some really good friends and met a lot of new faces because of it. My Dad, Brian, helps out as much as he can and runs discos for The Banbury Motocross Club social events."

Let's wish them the best of luck for the remainder of the season! We'll let you know how they get on in next issue of Rose Hill News.
